INTERESTING FIGURES ON FISHERIES

LARGE FACTS TAKEN FROM ANNUAL REPORT OF FISH WARDEN McALLISTER.

The Morning Astorian is just in receipt of the annual report of Master Fish Warden H. C. McAllister, of the State of Oregon, for the year 1908 and from it, selects the following items of interest in that important relation, and begs to state that the thoroughness of the report and its well arranged detail indicates plainly that Mr. McAllister has given the office and its responsibilities, intelligent and devoted attention, and has evidently manifested an extraordinary interest, as is proven not alone by the intelligent range of executive action, but by the admirable and consecutive treatment of the trust confided to him.

During 1908 there were, according to the tabulations made by Warden McAllister, 18,463,546 pounds of salmon caught in the Columbia on the Oregon side of the river. Of these, 14,447,797 pounds were Chinooks; 2,588,773 pounds of steelheads; 1,033,385 pounds of silversides, and 393,791 pounds of bluebacks. An excess of 310,000 pounds over the preceding year.

The hatcheries of Oregon and Washington, and those of the United States government in both states, yielded the following augmentation of the various breeds for the year: Early Chinooks, 13,518,240; late Chinooks, 26,810,500; Steelheads, 273,570; and Silversides, 6,316,500. Of which Oregon contributed in Royal Chinooks, 8,075,240.

Senate Returns Adverse

Tillman, Newlands, Taylor; noes: Elkins, Aldrich, Keene, Crane, with Foster not voting. A vote was then taken on Aldrich's motion to report the bill adversely and chairman voted Callum by proxy in favor of the motion. As Foster voted "no" a second tie resulted. Elkins said Foraker was opposed to the measure and he was authorized to obtain the latter's vote. The Fulton bill was introduced a year ago and its author was constantly urging its passage.

CITY IN COLD GRASP OF STORM KING

SIDEWALKS AND STREETS IS COVERED WITH COATING OF DANGEROUS ICE.

Not in many years has Astoria experienced a more disagreeable day than yesterday, when the wind, rain and cold sleet, and the slippery walks, all combined to make it a time long to be remembered by old and young. The worst feature, of course, was the icy condition of the walks and streets, and it was not possible to move anywhere with any degree of comfort or of safety. Many a pedestrian took a swift and undignified tumble, and that the accidents were not more numerous seemed greatly a matter of good fortune. All day long, as well as through all of the preceding night, the city was in the icy grip of the storm. The streets were comparatively deserted, and only those who were compelled to take their horses out did so, as it was almost impossible for the equines to keep their feet even if shod sharp. The Lurline kept her dock all day long as a sort of huge illustration of the tempestuous and icy day.

The fuel bills have been piling up high the last few days, too, and doubtless many will be glad when the wind veers around to the south again.

But there was another side to the storm, and a cheerful side, too.

Every little boy and girl in the city seemed to have had the time of their lives all day yesterday in coasting down the hills. It was a wonderful time for coasting. With the sidewalks and streets as smooth and icy as the frozen surface of a lake the opportunities for coasting were simply unlimited, and in few cities are the hills better arranged than here for this spot. A long swift coast of four blocks was nothing.

Down went the sleds with a kerpunk—as the boys went 'bellykerflop'—and then came the swift flight down the hill sides. In some places the boys would attain a speed of apparently 25 miles an hour, which is surely "going some."

One or two cutters appeared on the streets last night, the horse drawing one being ripped out with sleight bells after the good old fashion of "back East."

Eighth—Provide a fund of $500 for blasting out rocks and reefs in Klamath River.
